Dear Friends:

POWDER KEG

From sea to shining sea, the call to prayer and action by God's people is hitting an all time fever pitch and I join in to scream an urgent "AMEN" to the call.

In an unprecedented, across the board, trumpet sound, God is calling His people to wake up, stand up and speak up. As the frightened little boy said, "It's darker than it has ever been!" Clearly, we're perched on a powder keg. Consider...

The Iran Idiot was back in the Big Apple this week and while he was getting the usual thumbs up wink from the majority of the socialist minions who permeate the UN, it was some "destructive, dissenting" religious groups who were getting the bad publicity.

Groups like, The Catholic League, The Jewish Action Alliance, Concerned Women for America and Christians United for Israel, had the awful audacity to complain about an upcoming covered dish supper. You see, some other impotent religious groups, including the goofy World Council of Churches, Religions for Peace and a few others, decided to throw a shindig to honor Hitler wannabee, Ahmadinejad. (Quick, hide the Crosses and the Star of David centerpieces.) How did I miss my invitation?

Before dinner, he ran over to CNN for a warm and fuzzy chat. The Jewish interviewer, forgetting his own history, wanted to know "how the kids (were)" and then said that he "looked good for his age". I thought he really missed a great opportunity to do the Khrushchev/UN reenactment with a shoe shot upside his head. The softball questions certainly made him breathe a bit easier. He had been afraid that that pompous Charles Gibson might be peering over his glasses with the questions.

Recent reports say that Iran could have enough enriched uranium for a nuclear weapon within a year. Our demon possessed honoree can seethe, threaten and fume but he comes over here and gets a plaque. In the meantime, this grinning fool tortures and kills women, Christians, Jews and his own citizens. Careful not to lampoon or cartoon his religion while he is here, you could likely lose your head. Praise Allah and pass the ax!

History, as recently as this week, proves that the only Media and UN sanctioned targets are those who would dare trumpet traditional Judeo-Christian foundations and values. Free speech for everyone, except those pesky Christians. It's hunting season.

This week, a cartoon kook with the Washington Post depicted the female Vice Presidential Candidate (a Pentecostal Christian) with uplifted hands and speaking in tongues. Writing facetious nonsense words like, "argle, bargle, glooky, slobber" in the first panel and concluding with God's puzzled look to St. Peter saying, "All I can hear is some d___ right wing politician spouting gibberish!" To the media, it is called a free speech issue but to folks like me, it is a premeditated trip into blasphemy. I know this; Allah's boys just wouldn't have it!

MSNBC's resident pagan wise guy, Mr. Olberman, recently said he was "startled and terrified" at the notion of the people who speak in tongues, have prayer meetings and speak against the spirits of witchcraft and evil in our nation. Bet he got his invitation to the dinner.

Obviously, the only approved pulpit messages from this ilk are from the "God Damning America" Sermon Series.

On another front, while I'm writing, The President is speaking to the Nation about the precipice we are precariously dangling over. He just said, "There is now a widespread loss of confidence". Really? I'm praying for him but he just looks like he can't wait for January 20th.

While thousands have lost their homes, retirements and savings, one of the Merrill Lynch guys walked out the front door with 150 million bucks in his pocket and an influential advisor for one of the Presidential candidates got 90 million for six years of strenuous toil with the F&F twins. Know this, if they had been evangelists, the watchdogs would have been chewing on their necks long ago.

Politically motivated calls for a blank check to immediately fix this, without changes in people and procedures, is the typical foolishness. Although Wall Street greed gets most of the current, convenient blame, the Congress controlled fiascos, Fannie and Freddie, are really the ones who owe the money and apologies to all of us. This is a government induced problem and we all owe about five grand apiece to cover, as Psalms would say, their hinder parts.

So far, Congressional leaders like Frank, Schumer, Dodd and the others who mislead and cooked the books have successfully avoided the mug shot class picture. My point again, if they had been at an organized Capitol Hill prayer meeting or had been seen on a surveillance video with hands raised in a worship service, they would have already been cuffed to make the televised "Perp Walk".

Without a "God Touch", we know life will never be smooth. It's dark and I'm calling for the People of God to join the Call to the Light! The darkest of hours present the greatest of opportunities for the Light to shine. As you stand as strong beacons, expect the calls from the most unusual sources, "Hey man, could you pray for me?"

Jesus, exasperated with His disciples, in Matthew 17, said, "...you unbelieving and perverted generation, how long shall I put up with you?" Right about now, He's probably watching this mess and adjusting His timeline. Believe it, the fuse is getting shorter.

Michael
